THE CONTRACT BOODLERS.

THE COUNTRY PAID THE ELECTION CONTRIBUTIONS.

How It was Done—Murphy Gives the Snap Away—The Contractors' Prices Increased in Consideration of a Payment of $25,000 to McGreevy.

OTTAWA, June 19.—At the Privileges and Elections committee to-day, Murphy, one of the firm of Larkin, Connolly & Co., was again examined. He stated that prior to the elections of '87, Thomas McGreevy sent for him and he went to his house in Quebec. He (McGreevy) said that he wanted to raise $25,000 for election purposes. The firm which Mr. Murphy was connected with had scheduled price of 27, 28 and 33 cents per yard for excavation work at Quebec, and he (Murphy) agreed to give three cents per yard if the new contract was made with the Government, raising the price to 33 cts. all over. McGreevy said it was easy to obtain 33 cts. and the figures were adopted as the basis and the Government gave the contract for that amount. The agreement was then made out with Thos. McGreevy to give him $25,000, which was paid. In this agreement it was also stipulated that all over $200 600 for the Levis graving dock works would go to Thomas McGreevy and his friends. In connection with the British Columbia works there was a claim of $73,000 against the Government, all over $50000, obtained from the department for this claim was to be paid to Thomas McGreevy, or those whom he should name, so this $23,000 was included in the agreement above mentioned. These different amounts were paid to Thos. McGreevy. A sub-committee was appointed to examine the books of Michael Connolly and report that which was relevant to the subject under enquiry.

The bill respecting the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway passed the railway committee to-day.

It is understood the House will adjourn from the 26th to the 2nd July, 29th and 1st being statutory holidays

In the House yesterday Hon. Mr. Laurier moved for all papers bearing on the claims of squatters on the Island Railway Reserve of British Columbia. Hon. Mr. Dewdney said a number of settlers appeared to have grievances. His intention, last year, was to cause an inquiry to be made; but owing to the fact that the matter got into the courts, he deemed it better to wait until judgment were given. Hon. Mr. Laurier said Mr. Dewdney's statement was not satisfactory. The case of Hoggan, which the minister doubtless referred to, did not turn upon the question of settlers' grievances as to whether they were entitled to the minerals. The Government's action was an absolute denial of justice. Hon. Mr. Dewdney said he had acted according to the best dictates of his conscience, and would not prejudice the case before the courts.

Hoggan vs. Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railroad Co., British Columbia. This case was argued in the Supreme Court to-day. In this case appellant claims the right to purchase 160 acres of land from the company under the Dominion Land Grants Act. The court below held that he was not entitled to the land as he had no pre-emption grant. Judgment was reserved.

The Sealers' Prison.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The Government, through Collector Phelps, has chartered the steamer Alki, from Goodall, Perkins & Co. The steamer is to be used as a prison ship. She will be under command of Lieut. Tuttle, of the revenue steamer Hartley for the Government, and Capt. Leland for the company. She is provisioned, and has her crew on board, and goes up to Mare Island to-night, for instructions. To-morrow she will proceed direct to Ounalaska. Crews of seized sealers will be placed on the Alki and when she is full they will be brought to this city for trial.

The "New" Flag Dishonored.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 19.—Masters of the coasting vessels with Canadian register are surprised over an order of the United States Government, that hereafter Canadian vessels will be recognized only upon flying the flag of Great Britain, thus debarring the Canadian ensign.

Affairs at Port au Prince.

NEW YORK, June 19.—According to a letter received from Port au Prince yesterday, President Hippolyte attempted, on May 29th to take four political prisoners from the Mexican consulate in the Haytian capital, when the entire diplomatic corps called on the President on May 30, to protest against this violation of international law. Hippolyte attempted to play a high handed game of bluff and he might have succeeded had not the German consul threatened to report the matter to his government. Minister Douglass, it is said in the letter, stood trembling with fear, and heard the black ruler insult the flag of every civilized nation, almost including his own, and he did not dare to offer a protest. Terror reigns supreme. Hippolyte continues to kill his supposed enemies, but they accumulate faster than he can kill them. The real instigators and leaders of the movement against him have escaped his vengeance. Some of them are secretly at work in Port au Prince. Hippolyte, the writer thinks, is undoubtedly crazy. Referring again to Minister Douglass, the writer says he evidently regards the Haytian government with much more veneration than his own. The writer vigorously adds that as the United States claims a moral jurisdiction over Hayti, it is about time a minister of some decision was sent there to replace Douglass. The members of the dyplomatic corps have appointed Douglass to sustain the moral position the Monroe doctrine calls for, but in vain.

SIX LIVES LOST

By the Upsetting of a Boat in Icy Bay, Alaska—Arrival of the Queen.

NANAIMO, B.C., June 19.—The steamer Queen arrived here last night from Alaska and brought down the news of a fatal accident which befell the Russell exploring party. They had arrived at Icy Bay in the revenue cutter Bear and a few of them were being landed in the cutter's coat, a big swell was running at the time and caused the boat to capsize and immediately every person was seen struggling for their lives. The accident was witnessed from the deck of the Bear and another boat was dispatched to their assistance, but before they could arrive on the scene six of the number who had been in the boat were drowned. They were Lieutenant Robinson and W. C. Moore, of the Russel party, and four seamen. The names of the latter have not been learned.

Order to the U. S. Cutters.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The navy steamers Alert and Mohican sailed today, bound for Alaskan waters. The orders from Washington are to carry out the instructions based on the recent international agreement. It only became known to day, just what these orders are. They are unique in the history of the Behring Sea troubles. Bulky envelopes brought the details by mail, but a ten-page dispatch from Washington, yesterday, gave the final instructions. No vessels seized this season are to be sent away as was the Black Diamond, and the skipper permitted to snap his fingers at our navy while his vessel rides safely in Victoria harbor. Every vessel encountered is to be warned once, and a memorandum of the date and place will be entered in the log of the revenue steamers. If, after being warned, a vessel is caught sealing, she will be seazed and escorted to Ounalaska; there the skins will be removed and stored, and the officers and crew will be taken to the naval transport steamer which is to be sent up, either from this port or the Sound for this special purpose. A force of naval marines will guard all the captured sealers, and there will be few, if any, of the cases put into the courts. The Alaska Commercial Co. has just been awarded a contract for taking 2000 tons of coal to Ounalaska to supply the government fleet during the season

Whiskey Men Disturbed.

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—A crisis in the affairs of the great whiskey trust is at hand. Wholesale dealers are tiring of the system of legal blackmail employed by the trust, and distillers outside of the trust are just now adding largely to their facilities for manufacturing. The trust owes its stockholders $45,000,000, while it has allowed scores of great distilleries, its visible assets, to fall into decay. Of these, eight were once prosperous Milwaukee institutions. In this the great whiskey clearing house of the Northwest, these facts have just reached the surface, through the announcement to-day that six of the largest wholesale whiskey houses of Milwaukee, hitherto dependent upon the trust had broken away from the organization and are to erect a huge distillery with a capacity of fifty thousand gallons daily.

The Cloud Burst.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 19.—Latest advices about the cloud burst on Sunday last, on Conception Mountain, near the mining town of Los Catorio Elotraro, in the State of San Lus Potesi, Mexico, are to the effect that at least 60 lives were lost. Fifteen bodies have already been recovered. After the cloud burst, an immense stream poured down the mountain side, sweeping away the houses of the miners. The tunnel of the Gradeloupe mine filled with water and some miners who were at work in it, were drowned. Many persons living in cliff dwellings were buried alive. Hundreds of pack animals were drowned. The losses of the mining companies are heavy. A great quantity of high grade metal was carried away.

May Catch It.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The Bulletin this evening says: The Thetis, which was to have been employed this year in the survey of the route for the Hawaiian cable has been ordered to Behring Sea. It is reported in Washington that in consequence the survey will have to be postponed for some time but how long is not stated, but as the Thetis will be up north all season the postponement may be considered indefinite. The longer this matter is delayed the more danger of British interests stepping in and making Victoria instead of San Francisco the centre of Pacific telegraphic connection.

Schwatka's Explorations.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 19.—A private letter has been received by Capt. Shepard, of the revenue marine service, from Lieutenant Henderson, of the Bear, dated Juneau, Alaska, June 1st. In his letter Lieut. Henderson records the departure of Lieut Schwatka and Dr. Hayes on their exploring expedition into the interior of Alaska. They left Juneau May 26th.

Annexation in Guatemala.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 19.—Word was received here to-day that a movement is on foot in Guatemala to annex that country to the United States. It is said that prominent officials and the principal coffee planters of Guatemala are in favor of it.

EMPEROR MOURNING.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE EXECUTION OF MAXIMILIAN.

Francis Joseph of Austria Will not Listen to any Diplomatic Relations with Mexico—Germany Afraid of Balmaceda's Success—Hostile to Portugal.

LONDON, June 19.—A Vienna dispatch says that the Emperor is spending the day in seclusion, it being the 24th anniversary of the death of his late brother Ferdinand Maximilian, Emperor of Mexico, who was executed by shooting. The day is not observed as one of general mourning, but the Emperor always devotes a portion of it to retirement and prayer. As a blow to his feelings the fate of Maximilian is said to have been second only to the suicide of Prince Rudolph.

MEXICO AND AUSTRIA.

The subject of a renewal of diplomatic relations between Mexico and Austria was recently broached in Vienna, through the Columbian representative in that city, and the imperial ministry was strongly inclined to favor the proposition, on account of the growing commercial interests of both Austria and Mexico. The Emperor himself, however, put a damper upon the project, and showed by the emphasis of his action that he never would forgive Mexico for the death of his brother. The probability is that as long as Francis Joseph lives there will be no direct diplomatic intercourse between Austria and Mexico. At his death, however, the personal objection will disappear, as the crown will then go to a nephew, when the death of Maximillan will be a matter of history only.

AFRAID OF BALMACEDA'S SUCCESS.

Berlin advices state that a ministerial conference was held yesterday, the recognition of the Chilian insurgents being the subject of the discussion. Although no decision was arrived at, it was said that the course of the United States in regard to the Itata has aroused deep anxiety in Berlin, it being feared that Balmaceda's success will mean more favorable commercial conditions for the United States to the detriment of the European countries.

LORD DUNLO AS A PEER.

Lord Dunlo has given it to be understood that he will not take his seat in the House of Lords until his wife has entirely severed her engagement in connection with the stage. He declines in an interview to state whether he would be Liberal or Conservative in politics, but said he meant to find out soon what those terms meant. His wife, he admitted, would be in the peeresses gallery, whether these people liked it or not, and he believed she would be rather the prettiest in the lot.

HOSTILE TO THE PORTUGUESE.

The latest advices from Zanzibar state that reports from Mozambique represents growing hostility among the natives to Portuguese rule. The Chief, Kumissa, who was recently converted and baptized with all his warriors, by a Portuguese missionary, and who at that time discarded all but one wife, has pulled down the Portuguese flag from his kraal and taken all his wives back again, and with his fighting men threatened to fight any Portuguese who may invade his dominion. The Portuguese missionary escaped after a perilous experience, having been nearly torn to pieces by Kumissa's wives, who were enraged at him for the separation. The Portuguese forces are inadequate to cope with the almost universal hostility of the natives, and reinforcements from Portugal are urgently needed.

WORKING PEOPLE GRATIFIED.

The defeat of the government on the subject of employing children under 11 years of age is a mattter for general congratulation among working people, many of whom are in favor of permitting younger children to work half time.

Two Kings in Samoa.

LONDON, June 19.—A Melbourne dispatch states that Samoan advices received there are to the effect that Chief Mataafa, accompanied by a force of natives, had started for Mehe the Centre of the interigue which is known to exist against the sovereign rights of King Mallateo. This movement by Mataafa, it is believed will lead to further trouble. Two chiefs, who, by order of Mallateo were imprisoned for sedition, escaped and joined Mataafa. The latter returned them to Mallateo and during an interview which was held between Mataafa and Mallateo, the former told the latter that although he (Mallateo) be recognized as king by the powers, he (Mataafa) was the real ruler of Samoa.

Parnell Will not Marry Soon.

LONDON, June 18.—Rumors have been current of late that Mr. Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea were soon to be married. The correspondent of the International Telegram Company sought Mr. Parnell to-day, for the purpose of obtaining an authoritative statement on this interesting subject. The Irish statesman was learned to be at the House of Commons from noon to 4 o'clock, on business connected with a private bill for one of his Cork constituents, but as usual his disappearance, after leaving the House, was so sudden and unobserved that it was difficult to trace his whereabouts. The correspondent succeeded, however, after a long search, in locating the object of his pursuit. Mr. Parnell was found seated in a pleasant terrace, over-looking the river, and surrounded by a gay group of ladies, his guests. The table around which the party were disposed was loaded with delicacies appropriate to the hour, and the scene spread out along the waterside was an attractive one. Mr. Parnell seemed to be enjoying himself thoroughly, and his looks indicated that he was in excellent health. He is more active than for years past. He granted a few moments' interview with the correspondent, stepping aside to talk in private. When asked as to the rumors of his approaching marriage he betrayed some annoyance at the circulation of such reports, and assured his visitor that they were utterly untrue He did not wish to discuss the matter any further than to say that so far as the statement that he was to marry Mrs. O'Shea soon was concerned, it was without an atom of foundation. To the intimation that this left the question as to his remote intentions still open, Mr. Parnell made no reply, but diplomatically and courteously changed the subject of conversation to one less personal. He stated in the course of the interview that he was confident of success in the coming election in the county Galway to fill the vacancy caused by the death of The O'Gorman Mahon, and the general outlook for Ireland was improving in every respect.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Matters of Interest Going Forwird in the Sporting World, Here and Elsewhere.

THE OAR.

M'LEAN BACKS DOWN.

The boat race between McLean and Peterson is off and there is now little or no chance of bringing them together. The following telegram was received yesterday by Frank Campbell and speaks for itself:

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 18.

To Frank Campbell—Will not row Peterson except on terms first laid down. If he will not row on Fraser River the race is off. Send back my cheque. A. MCLEAN.

This telegram does not show McLean up in a very good light as he evidently wanted everything his own way as he was brought up on the river and knew all its currents and eddies, while Peterson has never rowed on a river course. Peterson's offer to row on any other course was sportsmanlike and fair and he made every concession to get on a race with McLean but was not willing to be beaten before the race began.

It looks now as if McLean was only making a bluff to gain a little cheap notoriety by having his name mentioned in connection with such an acknowledged good oarsman as Peterson and that he never intended to let the race come about.

BASEBALL.

The second game between the James Bays and Victoria Athletic Club will take place to-morrow afternoon on Beacon Hill commencing at 2 o'clock sharp. Players are requested to be on hand before 2, so as to finish early, allowing those that have to return to business time to get back. Several new players will appear in both nines. Following are the names and positions of the James Bays:— J. Hannan, catcher; G. Mead, pitcher; W. Hewlett, 1st base; F. Widdowson, 2nd base; J. Wishart, 3rd base; F. Williams, short stop; W. Franklin, left field; F. Mallandaine, centre field; G. Borthwick, right field; W. Lorimer, substitute.

LACROSSE.

VICTORIA-VANCOUVER.

The following members of the Victoria Lacrosse club leave by the boat in the morning to take part in the match at Vancouver to-morrow: Drysdale, sr., W. H. Clarke, C. C. Cullen, A. C. Wade, J. A. Renning, T. Cusack, W. F. Blight, Drysdale, jr., Dempster, J. Fairbairn; Geo, Tite, W. Sprinkling, S. Lowe, J. F. Sprinkling, W. H. Cullen, captain. The team is not so strong as is possible to raise in the city, owing to the inability of some of the members to play.

THE RING.

JOHN L. IS WILLING.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 19.—Sullivan said to-day that his reply to Wakley & Johnson, New York, regarding a fight with Slavin was to the effect that he would fight Slavin in September for $10,000 a side an outside bet of $10,000, and as big a purse as will be offered.

A LARGE PURSE.

OMAHA, June 19.—A purse of $25,000 has been offered by the Magic City Athletic Club for a finish fight between Sullivan and Slavin. A $10,000 bond was filed in the bank for faithful performance.

CRICKET.

A game will be played at the Hill to-morrow afternoon between Victoria's first eleven and 18 other Victorians. The Victoria team learnt a lesson in the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Vancouverites and they are now practicing to try and regain the laurels lost. After to-morrow's game an eleven will be chosen to compete with Westminster on the 1st of July and Vancouver on the 2nd.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A quoit match will be played at the Lion Brewery to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, between Messrs. Bridges, Merrian, Stuart and Gandie, with Mr. Robert Cox as referee and stakeholder (weather permitting).

The Close Season.

BOSTON, Mass., June 19.—An Ottawa special says the agreement arrived at between the British Government and authorities at Washington, regarding the killing of seals in Behring Sea, has raised a storm of indignation in British Columbia. Premier Robson will today petition the Governor-General to protest on behalf of the Pacific province to the Imperial authorities against the agreement. Over 20 Canadian sealers have fitted out at a cost of over $500,000 and have sailed north from Victoria to engage in seal fishing during the coming season. British Columbians are greatly incensed at the unexpected manner in which the British Government has acted in this matter without considering Canadian interests. The Government at Ottawa are also coming in for a share of abuse from them. They claim the Minister of Marine deceived them by stating in Parliament that the Imperial Government had been notified where Canadian interests were involved, and that no agreement would be sanctioned that was prejudicial to Canadian interests.

CANADIAN NEWS.

Fatal Yachting Trip—Suspended For One Year—Hail Storm.

A party of eleven persons, belonging to Hiawatha, near Peterboro, Ont., were sailing in a small yacht at Rice Lake, Tuesday, when the craft was struck by a squall and capsized. All were saved but John Toot and his two daughters, one aged 19 and the other three years. The bodies were recovered.

The Methodist Conference suspended for a year Rev. James Thompson, for preaching the heresy that there is no material hell, no punishment for wrong-doers but annihilation, and that the idea that they would be punished with perpetual fire was illogical and unsupported by scriptural testimony.

At a meeting of the C.P.R. board, held yesterday in Montreal, the resignation of Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, as a director of the company, was accepted, and Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy elected in his place. Mr. Shaughnessy was also appointed vice president.

A heavy hail storm, to-day, did damage to the extent of many thousand dollars near Thorold, Ont. Hail stones as large as hen's eggs fell. There were many washouts on the Welland and Niagara Central Railways, and traffic had to be suspended.

A circular, signed by Sir Donald Smith, has been issued in Montreal, calling a meeting for Saturday for the purpose of considering the advisability of erecting in that city a monument in memory of Sir John Macdonald.

The yacht Keewatin, belonging to Lieut.-Governor Schultz, again capsized yesterday in Lake Winnipeg. The cargo was lost but the crew were saved.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

Emin Pasha in the Lake Country—Portuguese Government Reforms.

VIENNA, June 18.—In the budget debate in the Reichsrath to-day Premier Taafe made an important speech, announcing that the government has decided to accept the support of the German Liberal party for carrying into effect the programme announced in the speech from the throne. The government, he said, would act in all things in accordance with that party. The speech, which was undoubtedly inspired by the emperor, produced a profound impression, and the old opposition party broke out into loud applause. The German Liberals in the Reichsrath number 110 out of a total of 350. A new majority will be formed by the addition of 60 Poles and 30 moderate Conservatives.

LONDON, June 18.—The sensational breach of promise case of Miss Wiedemann against Captain Robert Horace Walpole for seduction, in which the lady asks for $100,000, and which has been in the courts for a year or more, was decided to-day, with a verdict of $1500 for plaintiff.

LONDON, June 18.—The Press Association states that the total amount of money collected for the Irish plan of campaign was $600,000, of which $450,000 has been expended and $150,000 is missing, which was obtained through a forged draft.

BERLIN, June 18.—Emin Pasha, in behalf of Germany, has concluded treaties with five sultans in the Victoria Nyanza district, and has concluded an agreement with the British company's agent in relation to navigation on Victoria Nyanza.

LONDON, June 18.—Minister Carvalho's budget proposes the adoption of a gold and silver standard basis, and an import duty on alcohol, and suggests departmental reforms for reducing expenditures.

LONDON, June 18.—The hatches were opened on the steamer City of Richmond to-day. Immediately smoke and flames burst forth again. Fire engines have since been pouring water into the hold.

ROME, June 18.—The radicals in the chamber of deputies are starting an agitation for the abolition of the duty on corn. It is probable that the duties on wheat will be reduced.

Parnell has been ordered to pay the sum of £3,500 as costs in the O'Shea divorce suit.

AUTOCRATIC POWERS.

Chili's Congress Grants President Balmaceda Royal Powers.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The new Congress of Chili, elected since the revolution commenced, whose members are anonymously supporting ex-President Balmaceda, has passed several important acts since its meeting. Among other things, it has legalized all the acts of the executive or the officers of the government that may by any construction be considered contrary to the constitution.

An act has been passed investing the president of the republic with the following extraordinary powers during the progress of the revolution: First, he is authorized to arrest, imprison or punish any person inimical to the government. He may expend the public revenue in his judgment, without being subject to estimates, or procure money upon the credit of the state without previous authority of Congress; he may declare any part of the territory of the republic in a state of siege; he may appoint or dismiss public employees of whatever rank or degree, without restriction; he may suspend or limit the right of public meeting and public discussion and the liberty of the press; he may suspend the judicial power except so far as its jurisdiction relates to civil and ordinary criminal cases; he may exempt from the jurisdiction of the tribunals of justice political cases of all kinds and crimes growing out of the revolution; he may organize military tribunals and define their jurisdiction and authority as far as may not be contrary to law.

The government of Chili has awarded $150,000 prize money to the commanders of the admiralty Lynch and the admiralty Condell, the two cruisers that blew up the Blanco not long ago.

The House of Deputies passed a bill authorizing the President to levy a forced loan of $200,000,000 to carry on war. The measure has not yet passed the Senate, however. Under an order from the executive, carriages are not permitted to drive on the streets of Santiago after midnight under a penalty of $50 for the first offence and $200 for the second. A decree has also been issued prohibiting groups of more than three persons standing together in the streets, squares or public places. Persons guilty of an infringement of this decree will be liable to a fine of from $25 to $100. By another decree all theatres in Santiago are closed until further notice. Under the authority of Congress, all gold and silver in the treasury of Chili, composing what is known as the metallic reserve, was sold at auction on May 15th. The coined silver was sold in lots of $5000 and upwards, and bar silver in lots of 2000 kilograms and upwards.

PEACE PATCHED UP.

Guatemala and San Salvador Bury the Hatchet—A New Loan.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—A dispatch from the City of Mexico says that advices have been received from Guatemala, stating that a treaty of peace has been concluded by Guatemala and San Salvador, it having been ratified by the Congress of the latter country. The contract for the building of a railroad through San Salvador from Honduras, made by the Executive Committee with a Paris company, was also approved by the Congress of San Salvador. There has been a general shaking up in the Guatemala cabinet. As reorganized, it stands as follows:—Minister of Foreign Relations and Public Works, Emeno De Leon; Treasurer, Felician Aguilar; Minister of the Interior and Justice, Francisco Valetta; Minister of War, President Barillas. A new loan of $3,000,000 has been concluded by President Barillas, for the purpose of paying the treasury notes now in circulation. Bonds will be issued at 90 per cent. off their value, to effect the redemption of these notes. Notwithstanding that the Colter Company was given an extension of six months to negotiate the cotton loan the scheme has fallen through. The amount of money proposed to be raised by this loan was $21,000,000.

Collision With a Whale.

The cruiser Immortalite, which arrived at Gibraltar with the other vessels of the Channel squadron from Arosa bay, met with a singular adventure on her voyage. She was steaming down from Arosa at about 12 knots an hour, when she was suddenly brought up as if she had struck upon a sunken rock. The watch hurried forward, and were much astonished to find that the ship had struck a large whale. The sharp steel prow of the cruiser was, in fact, imbedded in the flesh of the leviathan, and the engines had to be reversed in order to set the vessel free. On the Immortalite going astern the whale sank, and the bows of the cruiser on each side were seen to be covered with blood.

THE SALMON COMBINE.

The Shares Placed Upon the London Market—The Prospectus.

The Anglo British Columbian Packing Company is the title of an association, recently organized in London, with a capital of £200,000. The purpose of the association is to operate the important salmon canneries on the Fraser and Skeena rivers, the amalgamation of which is due to the efforts of J. Bell-Irving, of Annan, N.B. The capital stock is divided into 20,000 shares at £10 each,—10,000 preference and 10,000 ordinary shares. The preference shares will be entitled to a fixed cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and the ordinary shares will be entitled to all the surplus net profits, divided as dividends after providing for the dividend on the preference shares. The present issue of shares will amount to only one-half the capital stock, being composed of 5000 shares of each denomination. Those disposing of the canneries have agreed to take 1700 of the first issue of shares, and the directors 6000 more. The shares are payable, £1 per share on application, £4 per share on allotment, and £5 per share on June 20th next. After payment of the total purchase moneys out of the present issue of £100,000 there will be a surplus of over £28,000 for working capital, and in the event of favorable opportunities presenting themselves for extending the operations of the company, the unissued capital will be available. According to the published prospectus of the company, the capacity of the nine canneries is about 175,000 cases per annum, and, judging by the average, where it can be taken over a period of four years, the actual canning pack is about 120,000 cases. If, however, an annual pack of only 100,000 cases be assumed to be sold, at the moderate net profit of 90 cents per case, which is considered to be below the average usually obtained, the profit will be ample to provide for the payment on the present issue of the preferential dividend and 15 per cent. on the ordinary shares, besides leaving a handsome balance to be placed against the depreciation of plant and for formation of reserve fund. The salmon run on the Fraser apparently varies in a rotation of four years; thus, 1889 was an excellent year, 1890 a very good year, 1891 will probably be fair, and 1892 indifferent. This rotation has been noticed to occur with singular regularity for the past 20 years, and may be fairly relied on. The run on the Skeena does not usually fluctuate in this way, an off year on the Fraser being frequently a good year on the Skeena. By the combination of these canneries (two of which are on the Skeena River), the fluctuations of the pack to which individual owners are subject will be more equalized, while the advantages of being worked as one concern are obvious. —Merchants' Magazine.

KOOTENAY NEWS.

A Rich Silver Mine—Nelson Smelter Company Fallen Through.

From the Nelson Miner

A petition for the establishment of a public school at Nelson, has been circulated by the Rev. R. A. Rodgers, and forwarded to Victoria.

Those who took stock in the Nelson Smelting & Mining Company, Limited, are requested to tender their receipts to Harold Selous, who will refund the amounts subscribed.

Rover Creek district has evidently other good properties besides the gold claims. The Mayflower, a claim located there about a month ago by Messrs. Case, Mulvey, McKerne, and Gentiles, has a vein of galena from 8 to 10 inches wide, galena, too, that assays $378.60 in silver and 60 per cent. lead. The owners have laid in supplies for the summer, and are going to do development work.

Apart from its advertised desirability for a smelter site, its favorable location as a business centre, and its attractions as a summer resort, Balfour has now the advantage of having a mineral claim in its immediate neighborhood. On Tuesday the Outlet was located by C. W. Busk and C. Vonmoerkeeke, within 1000 feet of the west boundary of the townsite, and about half a mile from the river. The rock is white quartz, carrying copper pyrites.

Mr. Wilson, the C.P.R. telegraph superintendent from Vancouver, went down the Columbia in a canoe in the early part of the week to see about carrying up the work of extending the telegraph line of the Spokane & Northern to Robson. He found everything well under way, half the poles being up. It will then be extended to Nelson. Tracklaying from Sproat to Robson was begun on Wednesday. It is expected that the superintendent's office will be moved to Robson next week; and then Sproat will be decently buried.

Not satisfied with any of the offers made for their property, the owners of the Queen Victoria, a copper lead on the north side of the Kootenay, have been busy for the past few weeks doing more development work. The tunnel is now in about 35 feet, and is crosscutting the ledge. The ledge has been stripped in four or five places, and is from 90 to 100 feet wide. The ore carries copper and silver, and is low grade. The face of the tunnel is now in the best mineral they have struck so far.

A Clever Burglary.

The great dry goods store of Hilton, Hughes & Denning, formerly A. T. Stewart's, at the corner of Broadway and Ninth street, New York, was robbed last Friday night. The plunder is said to have included all the diamonds in the jewelery department of the firm valued at $10,000. The burglars concealed themselves in the store during the day and were locked in at night. Our watchmen are employed by the firm but they are all stationed outside of the building. The robbers easily forced open the safe and secured the booty. In order to get out of the iron and steel encased building the burglars started a fire in the basement under the sidewalk and then hid near the door upstairs and awaited developments. The smoke soon attracted the attention of the watchman, and the latter, after turning in an alarm, opened a little door in the steel shutter covering the Fourth avenue entrance and then rushed in to extinguish the flames. The robbers escaped unnoticed. The fire was soon put out by the firemen and the store was again locked up. The robbery was not discovered until the next morning.

A Napoleonic Protest.

The people of Nelson and Revelstoke are kicking most vigorously against the appointment of Napoleon Fitzstubbs to the position of stipendiary magistrate and gold commissioner for that district. An indignation meeting was held and the chairman, W. A. Jowett, was instructed to send a telegram to headquarters, as follows:

To the Honorable John Robson, Victoria—The appointment of gold commissioner for West Kootenay was denounced at an influential meeting held here to-night. The meeting was unanimous that your Government be requested to hold him until petitions can be sent and every part of the district heard from.

W. A. JOWETT, chairman.

There is a petition being drawn up against the appointment, which will be almost unanimously signed here, and we have been appointed a committee to advise you of our actions in the matter and request your co-operation by taking the matter up in your part of the district and petitioning against the appointment which we consider not at all appropriate. We will also urge the Government to appoint some local man to fill the position. In name and on behalf of the residents of Revelstoke we are, yours very truly,

H. A. BROWN,
THOMAS HAMILTON,
W. M. BROWN,
} Committee.

Revelstoke, B.C., June 6, 1891.

The Miner, from which we quote is candid enough to admit that all it has against the gentleman is "that it does not like his name."

Facts.

The poet Tennyson can take a worthless sheet of paper, and by writing a poem on it, make it worth sixty-five thousand dollars.—That's genius.

Vanderbilt can write a few words on a sheet of paper, and make it worth five million dollars.—That's capital.

The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an "Eagle bird" and make it worth twenty dollars.—That's money.

The machanic can take material worth five dollars and make it into a watch worth one hundred dollars.—That's skill.

The merchant can take an article worth seventy-five cents and sell it for a dollar.—That's business.

A lady can purchase a very comfortable bonnet for three dollars and seventy-five cents; but she prefers one that costs twenty-seven dollars.—That's foolishness.

The ditch digger works ten hours a day and shovels three or four tons of earth for two dollars.—That's labor.

The editor of this paper could write a check for eighty million dollars, but it would not be worth a nickel.—That's rough.—The Book-keeper.

"Don't Care to Eat"

It is with the greatest confidence that Hood's Sarsaparilla is recommended for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes one "real hungry." Persons in delicate health, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish.

CURES DYSPEPSIA.

DEAR SIRS,—About a year ago I had a very bad attack of dyspepsia. For nearly four months I never ate a meal without suffering pain after. I kept getting worse and worse until I was obliged to give up my duties as a teacher. I had got so weak I could scarcely walk, when one day I saw an advertisement for B.B.B., and thought I would try a bottle; I did so, and before I had finished it I was able to teach again. THE CRY OF MILLIONS
OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW.
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bed ridden. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

A CHANGE OF POLICY.

A Tory contemporary is of opinion that there will be no change of policy, referring to Premier ABBOTT. Our contemporary is either in error, or has been confidentially informed by the newly-fledged Premier that he does not mean what he says. We quoted the Premier the other day in relation to his trade policy, and commented to the effect that it was good Liberal doctrine. If, however, the Premier does not mean what he says, we take it all back, and post him as being unreliable on the trade question as Conservatives are in general. But there will be a change of policy. Yes, more than that, there has already been a change of policy. The change was decided upon immediately after the election. Sir CHARLES went to Washington on the strength of that change; it is now pretty well understood that Sir CHARLES went to Washington prepared to throw the red parlor overboard. Before he went to Washington he declared that the Government was prepared to consider reciprocity on broader grounds than those of 1854 and what does this mean but a change of policy? Sir CHARLES never went to Washington to discuss limited reciprocity. He was to prepare to treat for reciprocal trade relations which substantially involved the surrender of every vital feature of National Policy. A complete surrender of course, he could not make so soon after the election. The semblance of National Policy had to be maintained; the substance, however, he was prepared to surrender. This seems to be certain, because Sir CHARLES, knew as well as we know, that the United States would not even discuss reciprocal trade relations on the narrow basis of National Policy. And further as proof of an already changed policy what are we to suppose will be the basis of the conference next October? It seems to us that Mr. ABBOTT's language furnishes the key note. On the whole it is as certain as circumstantial evidence can make it that there has already been a change of policy, and that this fall will witness its realization.

It is urged that Canada's future trade policy as enunciated by Mr. ABBOTT is the very essence of National Policy. We do not so understand it. The policy outlined by Mr. ABBOTT savors of common sense, of the spirit of real reciprocity. The spirit of real reciprocity does not pervade National Policy. If National Policy means anything it means a one-sided condition of trade. It proposes to sell abroad and buy at home. It does not conlemplate trade relations with the States which would in the slightest subject one solitary Canadian monopoly to American competition. A policy of this kind would be a mighty good policy provided it could be made to stick, but it cannot. If the States buy of Canada they expect to sell her something. Exchange of this sort is the soul of trade. Had England not been a heavy buyer she would not be the ranking nation of the world that she is to-day. But, say our Tory friends, Liberalism means the squelching of Canadian manufactures. This is open to debate; but one thing is certain, National Policy means the squelching of producers of natural products, which strikes at the very bottom of Canadian vitality. If Canada cannot sell her raw products she cannot buy manufactured products. While the farmer is prosperous everybody is prosperous. When he experiences a slack market hard times are the consequence, and they extend to merchants and manufacturers.

The more one studies National Policy the more absurd it appears. Say the exponents of this beautiful doctrine to the Americans, "let us trade in natural products alone; throw your market open to Canadian potatoes, and we will throw ours open to the American product." "No," reply the Americans, "we have 'spuds' enough of our own. If you would sell us potatoes, you must give us a chance to sell you our plows." This will do as an illustration of National Policy according to the Tory idea, and any one can see who has half an eye that so far as the Americans are concerned, they would be foolish to accept it. What would it profit Americans, a people of 61,000,000 against 5,000,000, to evenly swap potatoes with Canada? It would be like carrying coals to Newcastle. There can be no such thing as reciprocity in products in kind. The proposition is so absurd that we wonder it was ever preached. The American N. P. is different. It does not involve the mere swapping of sugar with Cuba. The Americans admit Cuban sugar free provided Cuba admits American flour free. This is reciprocity. But suppose the Tories could have things all their own way, that is, suppose the United States should agree to the free admission of Canadian farm products and not require in turn that Canada reciprocate as to their manufactures, how much better off would the Canadian farmer be? Though he got better prices for his products by this arrangement the red parlor would "cinch" him at home. The farmer, unable to import from abroad by reason of the high tariff, the combinsters at home would go for him, and the result would be that under an ideal N. P. according to the Tory notion, the farmer would be little or no better off than he is at present. But as we have attempted to show, this abominable policy has been abandoned by the Conservatives. They have learned at last there is nothing in swapping vegetables merely. If Tory editors think otherwise they are badly astray, nor do they want to make themselves ridiculous by affirming that National Policy is what it is not, that is, a proposition looking to the fair exchange of commodities.

PROTECTION IN EUROPE.

Protectionism bids fair to be the coming question in continental Europe. In 1880 says a French authority, flour cost 23 francs 50 centimes in Berlin. Rye bread, which cost the Berlin workmen 25 centimes in 1887 now costs him 33 centimes. Beef, pork and all other agricultural products have risen in proportion. There has not been, however, any corresponding advance in wages. In France an explosion against the tariff on the necessaries of life seems probable. The wheat crop will be short this year, and prices will rule high on agricultural products generally. The advances in the cost of living, without corresponding advance in wages, will, from sheer necessity, bring the working classes about the ears of their governments. Man must live, and, unable to earn their living honestly, the usual appeal will be resorted to—force. The trouble lies with the agriculturists. They want protection against imported food stuffs, and the Government, wanting money to keep up military armaments, have listened but too readily. The real burden of this variety of taxation falls on wage earners. Wages, like everything else, are regulated by supply and demand, with little or no regard for cost of living; and as labor in Europe more than equals the demand, men must work for what they can get, and not for what they require to keep body and soul together. One of these days, unless the taxation of food is abolished, there will be trouble, and if it should result in sanguinary scenes, the sufferers will deserve but little sympathy.

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES.

Mr. BRYCE, M.P., Imperial parliament, and author of a work on American institutions discusses as follows the relations of Canada to the United States.

I believe the substance of the matter is not far from this—Canadians all recognize that they would gain materially by joining the United States. The value of property would rise, wages would rise, wages being at present higher in the United States than in the anjoining parts of Canada. On the other hand, Canadians have two reasons for not desiring to be united to the American Republic. One of these is their old standing jealousy of the United States. There is a strong feeling of antagonism, not to the individual American, for the Canadians are a thoroughly kindly and good-humored people, and would never show any ill-feeling to an individual American; but they have a considerable feeling of jealousy and rivalry to the to the United States—a feeling which dates back to the time of the war, when they were invaded by the United States, and when they very successfully repelled the invasion. They have also a good deal of attachment for the Old Country. It is rather hard to measure exactly the amount of that attachment. I know that you will find books written even by eminent Canadians in which it is declared that this loyalty to the British Queen and the British Crown only emerges at public banquets, and takes no more substantial form than occasionally waving a Union Jack and singing "God Save the Queen." For my own part I do not believe that. I believe that there is a considerable measure of strength of loyalty in the feeling that it is the wish of Canada, if she can, to maintain her connection with Great Britain. At the same time it must be frankly admitted that in a material point of view Canada is at present making some sacrifices, and no one can say with certainty for how long she will continue to wish to make those sacrifices; and, therefore, although I believe the dominant feeling to be a desire to maintain the British connection, and to bear a part in the world-wide British Empire.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

DEWDNEY, in the case of HOGGAN, has acted "according to his conscience." It is lucky for HOGGAN that he has the courts to fall back on.

Messrs. EARLE and PRIOR, according to the Colonist, are haunting the "Department" in quest of appropriations for the custom house and post offices. They seem to have forgotten all about harbor improvements.

Apropos of the gambling habit of the British aristocracy, it is said that Senator PALMER, of Illinois, holds a seat in the highest legislative chamber in the United States by virtue of the result of a game of poker, in which a good deal of money changed hands.

"Hot water for cows," is the maxim of the French dairy farmers in the department of Finisterre. They claim to have proved by experiments that when cows drink hot water they yield one-third more milk than when they are refreshed with cold water only. The proportions are said to be half a pail of boiling water to half a pail of cold.

The results of the religious census of Ireland serve to remove a general impression that the decrease of population in the island was due solely to the emigration among the Roman Catholic element. The Roman Catholics are decreasing with the greatest rapidity, the falling off during the last decade having been at the rate of 11 per cent.; but the Protestant Episcopalians have lost 6½ per cent. of their number, and the Presbyterians slightly over 5 per cent. Methodism on the Green Isle appears to repeat the vigor it shows on this continent, for it, alone of the large denominations, comes forward with an increase of almost 11 per cent. Divided between Protestants and Catholics, the population of Ireland is about one-quarter of the former to three-quarters of the latter. Proportionately to the whole the Protestant portion is increasing, though actually, in common with the Catholic, it shows a decline.

The Boston Commonwealth says that of the thirteen hundred "abandoned farms" reported a few months ago in the rural parts of the State of New Hampshire, it is now stated that nearly one-half have been disposed of to city people who wish to enjoy country homes in the summer. This, as will be remembered, looks in the direction pointed out by ex-Governor Long in his remarks in a recent number of the New England Magazine on the subject of the decadence of farming in this section. These abandoned farms, Gov. Long says, will not be restored to agriculture, but they will serve an equally profitable purpose, though in a different way, by this change in the character of their occupancy. Indeed, it may be reasonably expected that the transformation of deserted farms into summer homesteads will tend to secure the better preservation of the forests and the natural beauties of that part of New England.

Due on Monday.

The steamship Empress of Japan is expected from the Orient on Monday next. Every preparation is being made to rush the mail and express brought by her across the continent to catch the steamship Teutonic of the Atlantic liners.

An Old Paper.

Mr. W. A. D. Jones, of Westminster, has got a copy of the Daily Evening Press, the first evening paper published in Victoria. Among interesting articles in the paper is an item referring to the opening of the American Hotel by T. J. Burnes.

Meet This Evening.

A delegation of citizens will be over from Port Angeles this evening to meet the board of aldermen, who will hold a meeting for the purpose. The question of railway or some other connection between Port Angeles and Victoria, will be discussed.

Bermudez Pled Guilty.

In the Speedy Trials Court this morning before Justice Crease, the trial of Ed. Bermudez, charged will burglarizing the house of J. Meldram, came on to be heard. Bermudez pled guilty and the court adjourned until 11 a.m. to-morrow when the sentence will be pronounced.

Road Improvements.

From George Dean's northerly to the cross roads, a much-needed straightening and grading of Mount Tolmie road is being made by the Provincial Government under the charge of Roadmaster Beethour. The road to the summit of the hill will be completed in about ten days.

Coming Down.

The dredge Mudlark has finished her work at Vancouver and is now on her way down in tow of the steamer Etta White. The Standard brought the scows and scoop down this morning. The Mudlark will now be put to work around the outer dock and Turner, Beeton & Co.'s wharves.

Disastrous to Birds.

The rain that has been falling during the last few days promises to be disastrous, at least among the game. The young grouse, quail and pheasants are just about hatched and no doubt a great many of them will be drowned in their nests. Last year a great many suffered the same fate, but it is feared that it will be worse this year.

Grand Lodge Officers.

The Grand Lodge of A. F. & A. M., now in session at Kamloops, elected the following officers to act for the ensuing year: M.W., Bro. Marcus Wolfe, G.M.; R. W. Bro. Wm. Downie, D.G.M.; R. W. Bro. Clarke, S.G.W.; R. W. Bro. P. Grant, J.G.W.; V. W. Bro. H. F. Heisterman, G. Treas.; V. W. Bro. W. J. Quinlan, G. Sec'y; V. W. Bro. Rt. Rev. Sillitoe G. Chaplain; W. Bro. W. Trickey, Tyler.

Home for the Aged Poor.

The board of aldermen and directors of the Jubilee Hospital will meet tomorrow evening to make final arrangements for the establishment of a home for the poor. The offer of the Jubilee Hospital directors to rent or sell the old French Hospital will be taken up and considered. It is hoped that they will come to an amicable agreement and that the home will be ready for occupation before many weeks.

The Olympian Again.

The steamer Geo. E. Starr which left for the Sound this morning took over 12 drums of paint which is to be used to embellish the steamer Olympian. The Olympian is expected to be on her old route between this city and the Sound next week. Her owners, the U.P.R., intend to have her crowded again during the 4th of July celebration on the Sound as in former years by selling tickets for one fare for the round trip.

A Handsome Barroom.

The Mirror is the name of the new saloon recently opened by Mr. James Munger at the corner of Yates and Broad streets. It is one of the neatest barrooms in the city, being elaborately fitted up with fine mirrors and handsomely decorated with fancy glassware. The sign on the outside, a large mirror with a mermaid is an artistic piece of work and corresponds with that done in the interior. Mr. Munger is a Victoria boy well known to all and he will undoubtedly command a share of the trade.

A Disputed Title.

The trial of George Prescott and George Lee, charged with trespass, was called in the provincial police court this morning with Johnson, S.M., on the bench. The case grew out of the cutting and carrying away of some hay from a piece of land on Oak Bay. After the evidence had been partially submitted the court found that the title to the land in question was in dispute and that the title of the land was the real question to be determined. Therefore Justice Johnson held that the provincial police court had no jurisdiction, and directed that the question be taken to a higher court.

Property Sold.

The following is a list of Mount Tolmie Park property sold to Victorians at schedule prices since opening of sale: T. N. Hibben & Co., 4 acres; Mrs. Annie Curtis, 6 lots; Thos. Norquay, 2½ acres; Jno. McHardy and G. C. L. Reid, 1 acre; George Stelley, 4 acres and one lot; Julius H. Frank, 2 lots; Thos. H. Paw, 2 lots; John Keen, 2 lots. The list includes resident Victorians only. Some are improving already, others are preparing to further beautify their property.

Gas Fixtures.

Braden & Stamford have just imported a fine lot of gas fixtures which every one should see before going elsewhere.

Struck by an Electric Car.

Almost a serious accident happened this afternoon on Government street in front of where the new Five Sisters' block is being erected. The sidewalk has been moved out into the street until it almost overlaps the street car tracks, and is always a source of danger to pedestrians. This afternoon a lady, a stranger in the city, was at this point when a car coming rapidly struck her on the shoulder and knocked her down. She would have fallen under the car had not officer Walker been present and caught her as she fell.

The Colonist's Sheep.

The importation of sheep from Washington and Oregon into British Columbia, says the Truth, is assuming great proportions. Mr. R. L. Cawston, manager of the British Columbia Cattle Company, has just returned from across the line, where he has purchased about 1,000 sheep for breeding purposes on the company's ranches at Okanagan. The sheep are to be driven overland a distance of nearly 400 miles, and the journey is expected to take almost two months. The sheep are mostly high grade merinos, and are the first ever handled by the company, cattle having hitherto been their specialty.

Newcastle of the Pacific Coast.

One of the best opportunities for real estate investment of the season will be to-morrow at the sale of lots of Newcastle, Nanaimo. The sale takes place at the Opera House, Nanaimo, under the direction of George Byrnes, the auctioneer, who acts under instructions from the E. & N. Railway Company. The sale will comprise 100 lots in the addition to Newcastle Town, and are beautifully situated and at present have an increasing value that removes them from being a speculative purchase. The terms of the sale are very easy for time payments and a substantial rebate on cash payments. A train will leave Victoria to-morrow at 8 a.m., arriving at 11:30 a.m., and leaves Nanaimo at 4 p.m., giving intending purchasers ample time to attend the sale.

Union Picnic.

Good shade, good lunch table for the strangers, pure spring water, ice cream, candies, etc., good sporting grounds, good programme of sports, good prizes, and a place, large, pleasant, convenient and safe would be a desiderata for a picnic.

The Pandora Avenue Methodists and First Presbyterians have decided that their union Sunday school picnic on Dominion Day shall be just such a place, and have secured Porter's field at considerable expense. This field is a portion of Langford Plains, immediately alongside of the railway track, so that the youngest as well as the old and infirm can get there without having any distance to walk. Arrangements have been made with the E. & N. Railway Company to take passengers to the grounds hourly, commencing at 8:30 to 2:30, and returning will commence at 6:30 to 8:30. All are invited.

Bee Hive of Industry.

The Albion Iron Works is probably the busiest place in Victoria with her 200 men employed on full and over time, trying to keep up with the orders that are constantly coming in. The last large order that has been completed is for the new reservoir for Moody Square in Westminster. The order consisted of a large number of cast-iron pipes, capable of standing a 250 pound pressure, as well as some valves, gates and heavy castings which are the heaviest ever cast in the Province. They are also turning out the sewer pipes for the city contractor as fast as he needs them so as not to retard him in his work. The set of boilers for the Moodyville saw mill are almost completed and will be ready for shipment in a few days. Their repairing of the City of Seattle will be completed tomorrow when she will be turned over to the owners again as good as new.

Police Court Record.

The city treasury was increased by $117 in the police court this morning by fines levied and paid. The first to appear before E. Johnson, S.M., were Georgie and Rosie, two common women, who ply their trade on Broad street. The specific charge against them was that they made themselves more prominent and public than decency allowed. They were each fined $50, which was paid without comment. Jim, a siwash, pled guilty to being overcome by fire-water and was fined $5. His almost white klootchman was ready with the money in her hand to liquidate the fine. A rather good looking half-breed female was assessed the same amount for being found drunk in the street. William Rice had the charge against him of "drunk again" and paid the usual stipend of $5 for the privilege. A man by the name of Nash had been summoned for permitting his dog to swim in the lake at Beacon Hill park. The offence was not very serious but Chief Sheppard intends to see that all the park by-laws shall be observed this summer and the only way to enforce them is to make an occasional arrest. Nash was fined $2, which made the day's work amount to the $117.

Died on His Way Home.

About two months ago, says the Winnipeg Free Press of June 15, Mr. John Hodge and his family left their home, Newmarket, Ont., for Vancouver, B.C., for a change of climate, to benefit, if possible, Mr. Hodge's health. Finding no improvement he resolved to return East that he might see those of the family who had been left behind. The family left the coast for the return journey on Wednesday last, with the hope of accomplishing his desire; but the journey to his earthly home was not to be completed. He gradually grew worse, and although everything was done on the train for him that was possible by the C.P.R. officials, as also by Major Clapham, of Montreal, one of the passengers, who stood by the poor man to the last, using what means he had to alleviate the sufferings of a fellow creature, he finally succumbed when nearing Wolseley station on Saturday morning. The family, with the body, left the train at Mobsomin, where all necessary arrangements had been made ahead by telegraph by the conductor, James Barton, who had charge of the train to Brandon. It is gratifying to find the C.P.R. employees willing to do all they can in lending assistance to the traveling public upon such sad occasions as the foregoing.

HALIFAX TO VICTORIA.

The Schooner Otto Arrives From Halifax—A Long Trip.

The sealing schooner Otto, Capt. McLeod, arrived in the harbor at 1 o'clock this afternoon, 169 days from Halifax. The trip was almost bare of incident until the schooner was entering this harbor, when she ran on the Sleeper rocks. After a good deal of tugging, however, she slipped off apparently having received only a few scratches. The schooner was 60 days in the North Pacific ocean, there being no wind that would bring her up.

Captain McLeod tells a good story of how they chased a four-masted iron ship, which evidently took the schooner for a pirate. Capt. McLeod wanted to exchange longitude, but the captain of the big ship refused by sailing away.

On board the Otto is a young Patagonian who wanted to take passage on the schooner, but his father refusing without some compensation, the lad was bought for three plugs of tobacco. Captain McLeod will issue a book on the way schooners should come through the Straits of Magellan.

The Otto is a trim schooner, copper bottomed, and belongs to Walter Borns. Among her crew is Mate Riley, an old time sealer.

At a poker game in New Westminster there was $1500 on the table when an alarm of "police" was sounded. The game was hastily changed into an innocent rubber of whist, but one unfortunate, the Truth does not say who, raked in the pot. The Westminster sports are evidently following the dangerous example of the Prince of Wales, as it is not to be supposed that they ever indulged in the alluring game until they heard of the Tranbycroft pastime.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Citizens of Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster.

Prof. F. D. Seward the eminent scientific optician, of New York, will close his office in Victoria next week, and will stop for a short time at Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster.

During his sixteen weeks stay in Victoria, Prof. Seward has accomplished a work never before equalled in the Dominion of Canada, not only in adjusting eye-glasses and spectacles to ordinary eyesight, but in fitting artificial eyes, cataract glasses and making of special lenses for double vision, astigmatism, and other defects that could never before be benefitted by any optician in the Dominion at any price, as an expert optician, Prof. Seward has no equal in Canada, and no superior in the United States, therefore the opportunity now being afforded the citizens of the Dominion should be taken advantage of by every one needing artificial aid to the eyesight.

Nanaimo office will be at the Windsor Hotel.

Office hours while in Victoria, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., corner Yates and Douglas streets, over drug store.

THREE STEAMBOAT ACCIDENTS.

North Pacific Blows her Cylinder Head out—Kingston Must get a New Wheel.

The old saying that it "never rains but it pours," was exemplified yesterday by the singular co-incidence of three steamers running into this port all meeting with accidents to their machinery and that in no case was anyone hurt.

On her trip over from Vancouver last evening, the Yosemite broke her piston rod and is now lying at Spratt's wharf, where she will remain for some days until the break is repaired. Her place is taken for the time being by the R. P. Rithet, and the steamer Rainbow's advertised trip to the northern logging camps has been cancelled, she taking the place of the Rithet on the Westminster route.

The North Pacific, while on her way up the Sound at Point No Point, had a very serious breakdown to her machinery, and it will be some days before she will be able to resume her regular run. Her cylinder head was blown out into the cabin, and the machinery seriously damaged otherways. A number of persons had very narrow escapes from being killed, but fortunately no one was hurt. Word was immediately sent to head quarters and the Geo. E. Starr sent to take on her freight and passengers, and arrived here about 3 o'clock this morning. The Star left for Port Angeles as soon as she could unload the Victoria freight and take on what there was for the Sound ports. To-night the Sehome will take the place of the North Pacific.

The old North Pacific has a singularly good record for immunity from accidents, and this one is probably the most serious that has ever happened her.

The City of Kingston, not to be out of the fashion, thought she might as well add to the list of accidents, and so struck her propellor against a log and broke one of the flanges. However, in this case there will be no loss of time. The Albion Iron Works have a new wheel for the Kingston all ready to be put in place. She will go into the dry dock Saturday night, and will be ready to take her regular trip Sunday evening.

IN ENGLAND'S PALMY DAYS.

Justice Was Meted out Without Delay and Administered on the Spot.

The reopening of the Berkeley peerage case recalls the extraordinary episode of Lady Henrietta Berkeley in the year 1682. Lord Grey, her brother-in-law, had led her astray, and her father, the Earl of Berkeley, indicted him in Westminster Hall. The trial was one of the most famous in olden days. The jury were preparing to consider their verdict when Lady Henrietta startled the court by declaring that she would not go home with her father for she was legally married to a Mr. Turner, who was then in court.

An animated colloquy ensued.

Lady Henrietta—I will go with my husband.

Earl of Berkeley—Hussy, you shall go with me home.

Lady Henrietta—I will go with my husband.

Earl of Berkeley—Then all that are my friends seize her, I charge you.

A great scuffle took place. Swords were drawn. The Lord Chief Justice bade his tipstaff take Lady Henrietta into custody. She was released, and died "unmarried" (said the records) in 1810, the claim of Turner being proved a collusion to save Lord Grey.

Thus, says the Illustrated American, was justice administered in England's palmy days.

Bad Whiskey did it.

DETROIT, Mich., June 19.—Last evening the steam barge Jane Cook, of Port Dover, Ont., anchored off the Amherstburg dock, and a portion of the crew went ashore and filled up with liquor, returning about midnight. They became so noisy below deck that the other men could not sleep. Captain Dupont went below to stop the row. About the time Capt. Dupont showed up, pistols were pulled and indiscriminate fighting started. The battle lasted half an hour, and six men were shot. Captain Dupont was shot through the right lung and his recovery is doubtful. Peter Riorello was also shot in the chest and may die. The other four wounded men were shot in the legs.

Progressive Euchre.

One of the last acts of the Presbyterian General Assembly at Detroit was to issue a sort of rescript condemnatory of that wicked game, progressive euchre. It was couched in these terms: This assembly would affectionately call upon all the members of our church to regard their obligation to Christ to see to it that they take no part in amusements which they cannot take in his name, and in view of the fact that the popular style of card playing treated in the preceding report known as progressive euchre has principally come into existence since any assembly has made deliverance upon the subject of card playing, this general assembly would bear earnest and solemn protest against this practice as hurtful to the spiritual life of the church, as it produces divisions in its social life which tend to heartburnings and alienations, as it tends to obliterate the distinction between the church and the world, to harden men in sin and to make them to be at ease while neglecting Christ. This assembly would earnestly urge upon all our ministers to make strenuous efforts through their pastoral labors to free the church from these practices, and we appeal likewise to church sessions in their watchful care over the churches to use all diligence to the same end.

CHAPTER VI.

BY THE CAMP-FIRE.

Though the Union army was defeated at Wilson's creek, it was not by any means crushed, Major Sturgis, upon whom the command devolved, making a masterly retreat. Frank Besant fraternized with the Iowa boys, by whom he was credited with some gallant conduct, though the din of battle had seemed to him like a dream hard to remember at the awakening. Of course he had fired as long as his ammunition lasted, and used his bayonet like the rest of them; but as for any particular act of heroism, if such there had been, it had entirely escaped his remembrance.

Of course his new friends were willing to share their rations with him, and blankets were to be had for the picking up, but no one seemed inclined to take the responsibility of giving him orders.

"Join your regiment as quick as you can," was the nearest approach to a command he received.

So unfettered and disconsolate he roamed about as he listed, observant of every thing round him, and on a keen lookout for Dick Swayne, who he thought might help him find his regiment.

It was not till some weeks afterwards that he learned how little likely he was to find the staunch Missourian, who had yielded to Mark Henderson's entreaties to join his regiment—not till Frank heard of the brilliant charge Major Zagonyi with three hundred horsemen made at Springfield on two thousand Confederates, seventy of his men as they rode saber in hand, falling ere they reached the enemy, when he scattered four hundred Confederate cavalry and routed a regiment of infantry—did he know what had become of Richard Swayne.

So Frank, finding none to help him, helped himself in the best way he could, fighting when there was fighting to do, and giving a helping hand to the ambulance squads whenever occasion demanded his services.

Thus in five days he found himself in Springfield, where the very first person he met was James Lawson driving a light supply wagon.

"Hullo!" that worthy cried, almost dislocating the mule's jaw in his eagerness to stop. "Why, blame me if I ever thought I was going to set eyes on you again, old fellow. Come, jump up alongside me. I've been down to the commissariat master's for some grub, but I'm going right back. And won't the boys be glad to see you!"

"So the regiment's here all right?"

"You bet it is. Say, weren't we lucky to miss the carnage at Wilson's creek? It almost made me sick to see them carry the wounded to the field hospitals".

"That's no way for a soldier to talk. I do believe, Jim, your moral sense is so blinded that you do not have the faintest appreciation of the word 'duty,'" Frank said, indignantly.

"Haven't I, though, old chap? Then that's all you know about it. Why, duty's been my bugbear ever since I was as high as your knee. Miss Ruth, Grace, old Brentwood, all the pious crowd at Meltonburg have dinged duty in my ears as long as I can remember, and, now I've got here, durn me if you aren't all at the same old game again, till I sometimes wonder if there is a spot in the world where a man like me, whose principles are a little knock-kneed, can get out of hearing of that hateful word."

"Not in this world, nor the next, I'm afraid," Besant said, with a smile at his companion's frankness.

"Then all I can say is, I wish I'd never been born. G'lang!" and Lawson gave the mule a vicious lash with his cowhide, as though resolved that there should be some vicarious suffering somewhere, then sank into moody silence. Just before they reached camp, however, he recovered his usual air of self-satisfaction.

"Say, Frank," he said, "you couldn't fer the sake of old times lend me a ten-dollar bill, could you? We've not received a cent of pay since we left Columbus, and I'm dead broke. Why, it's a holy outrage the way we're treated. Guess those big-wigs at Washington would holler out pretty lively if pay-day came round and there was nothing in the treasury for them."

"It is a shame," Frank confessed.

"Well, could you let me have the dollars?"

"I could," was the frigid response.

"Then, will you?"

"What do you want it for?"

"To send to a girl."

Frank's eyes opened with astonishment.

"Don't ask me any questions about it," Lawson continued with earnestness. "Give me the money—it will be ruin if you don't."

Frank was puzzled.

"Well, here it is, Jim," he said, handing him the bill; "and as the Adjutant might kick against your carrying passengers, I'll get down and walk the rest of the way."

Lawson watched his retreating figure with a curious expression on his face, muttering to himself the while:

"That's the best thing you've done for yourself this many a day, Frank Besant, though you don't know it."

They were all glad to see Frank back, especially the Colonel, who had many kind words for the young man, whose story he listened to with intense interest, while Major Hopkins called him to his own tent and made him relate his adventures over again, paying him several handsome compliments. But the best news of all was that his name had been forwarded to the Governor of Ohio for a commission, and these gentlemen thought that their strong recommendations would be favorably received.

From Springfield the regiment went into winter camp at Sedalia, then the terminus of the Union Pacific railroad.

What the men endured during that severe winter under canvas no pen could describe. The weather was exceptionally inclement, and many a gallant fellow, who might have struck a blow for the Union, was either invalided home with a broken constitution or died outright of exposure. It was indeed a case of the survival of the fittest—those who were hardy enough to struggle through it all gave Uncle Sam sufficient assurance that his bounty money had been well laid out.

In the midst of this discomfort they were turned out several times to take part in slight engagements, while they celebrated Christmas by capturing a gigantic supply train on its way to Price, together with five hundred prisoners, and, what was of more consequence to many of them, "lots of loot."

It was on his return from this expedition that Frank Besant received the glorious tidings that his commission had arrived, and that he was appointed to a Lieutenancy in his own regiment. A little later and there would have been much grumbling at a man's stepping from the ranks to a seat at the officers' mess-table, but in those days military etiquette was not so strictly observed, and, besides, our hero was too popular for the tongue of envy to be raised against what all thought was a fair, though tardy, recognition of his merits.

This freak of good fortune gave Frank what he so much needed, association with men, who, by education and home culture, were more nearly his equals, a boon he appreciated, besides rescuing him from the familiar approaches of James Lawson and his friends, a consideration to be by no means ignored.

When spring's first breath modified the icy clutches of winter, the order came for the regiment to march to St. Louis.

Charlie Fulton and Frank were now bosom friends, though they were in different companies, and it was from him that Besant learned of the intended departure.

"They're going to march us the whole blessed way over the railroad ties to save the Government the expense of transportation. It's a shame—a burning shame—especially after the way our poor fellows have suffered from this infernal climate," Fulton declared, with a gust of righteous indignation.

"It's pretty tough, but I guess they'll come out all right," was Frank's cheerful response.

"Eh, Besant, how I do envy you that even disposition of yours. Nothing seems to put you out—why, I've been raging ever since I heard the beastly news."

"And what good has your raging done you, Charlie?"

"Well, at any rate it has let some of the superfluous steam off and I'm likely to be a little more companionable. So come to my quarters and have a pipe with me. I'm expecting one or two good fellows you will be glad to meet."

"No cards?" Frank asked, sharply.

"Bless your innocent young heart, no—not even a game of Beggar-my-Neighbor to shock your moral principles."

"Who will be there?"

"Why, Green and Carson of ours, Gregory of the Thirty-ninth, and a cavalry fellow on his way home on furlough—he says he knows you, by the by—Mark Henderson, do you remember him?"

"I should think I did. Why, Charlie, he is the man Swayne and I rescued from the guerrillas."

"Ah! that is jolly. Well, put your forage-cap on and let us start."

Symposiums in officers' quarters were not always the kind of entertainments an elderly maiden lady of precise views would have declared particularly improving gatherings, but on this occasion the revelry was not very pronounced. Some whisky and a good deal of tobacco was consumed, of course, but beyond this mild dissipation there was little to complain of. Henderson seemed very pleased to meet Frank again.

"I knew you would be soon sitting at the high seats of the synagogue," he said, "and I told you so. Let me congratulate you on your promotion."

"Thank you," Frank replied—there was something about this man that impressed him with a feeling of admiration—"and let me congratulate you on the glorious charge your fellows made at Springfield. It was grand, heroic—I never heard or read of a more dashing feat of chivalry."

"It was a pretty tidy bit of fighting, I confess," the Captain drawled. "By the by, there was another acquaintance of yours on that battle-field, who rode as though he had a hundred lives at his disposal."

"No! Who?"

"Dick Swayne—you know he enlisted in our corps?"

"Indeed I do not. The last I saw of him he was pounding along with you to the battle-field, with the horse I'd been riding flying at your heels. And that reminds me—did you ever catch my runaway steed?"

"Aye, that we did. Both nags entered my troop with their master and took part in that scrimmage at Springfield. As for Dick Swayne, he fought like a wild-cat, and though I'm afraid we shall never make a smart soldier on parade out of him, he'll be worth his weight in gold as a scout."

"Was he wounded?"

"Never got a scratch—seemed as though he bore a charmed life."

"And you?"

"I was not so lucky; but the damage was not very serious—just a bullet through my shoulder-blade, which makes a convenient excuse for a brief trip home."

"Are you going far?

"To Dayton, O. Then, I may take a run down to a little place called Meltonburg, where I've a sister married to a young doctor, who may be glad to practice his healing art on my person."

PREMIER ABBOTT.

A Brief Outline of the Political Life of Sir John's Successor.

John J. Caldwell Abbott was born 70 years ago in the rectory of St Andrew's parish, county of Argenteuil, Quebec. His father was the Rev. Joseph Abbott, M.A., who in 1818 came from England and settled at St. Andrew's as the first Anglican encumbent. The elder Abbott, after a brief residence at St. Andrew's married Harriet, daughter of the Rev. Richard Bradford, rector of the adjoining parish of Chatham. The union resulted in the birth of a son on March 12, 1821. Careful training at the hand of his father, with the intent of entering upon a university course, occupied the first few years of the future statesman's life, which passed uneventfully until he went to Montreal and matriculated at McGill College. Here his course gradually opened out for him, and after several years of close application, during which his life was one of study—industrious and ardent—he graduated a B.C.L. He at once entered upon the study of law and in his 27th year was called to the bar of Lower Canada. These were stirring times in the political history of Canada. Two years after Mr. Abbott commenced his practice a Montreal mob burned the Parliament House and practically drove the Governor out of the city. There is no record however, that Mr. Abbott took much more than the common interest in these events. He is on record as mixing in politics at this time for his name has come down as one of the signers of the now famous annexationist manifesto of 1849. High Tory as he was and sufficiently interested in current events to take this step, it is not apparent that he followed it up by taking a prominent part in politics. For several years he devoted himself chiefly to commercial law and built up a reputation for shrewdness and caution. Then, as now, he was reckoned a safe man with whom to take counsel, a man little likely to risk all on one throw of fortune's dice. It was not until 1859 that he entered political life as member for his native county in the Assembly of Canada. From that time onward he took an active part in the transactions of the House, notably in reference to commercial matters. He was made a Q. C. in 1862, and for a short time was a member of the Sandfield Macdonald Ministry as Solicitor-General. In 1864, after a good deal of research, he introduced and fought through the House the "Insolvent Act," probably his chief work as a legislator. The act has been amended at various times but in the bill of Mr. Abbott the foundation of future legislation was laid. The successful carrying through of this measure added greatly to his reputation both as a lawyer and legislator. As father of the Insolvency Act he was consulted by many seeking to enforce its provisions and his practice increased greatly. In 1867, after Confederation, Mr. Abbott was returned to the House of Commons, and continued to take great interest in legal questions that came up in the House. In the negotiations of the syndicate of which Sir Hugh Allan was chief for the Pacific Railway charter Mr. Abbott acted as counsel, and through his confidential clerk's treachery—or patriotic spirit—it was that the famous private correspondence which caused the Pacific scandal saw the light. In the defeat of the Government at that time Mr. Abbott shared, and from 1874 to 1880 was without a seat in Parliament. He was returned once more in the latter year and sat through the Parliament of 1883-87. Retiring then, he was subsequently elevated to the Senate, which he has now and again brought before public notice. He is now Government leader in the Senate, and one of the most vigorous members of "the Lords." The legislative achievements of Hon. Mr. Abbott have been chiefly along the line of his first work. Next to the Insolvency Act, the measure by which his reputation has been most enhanced, is the Jury Law Consolidation Act for Lower Canada. Another important matter in which he took part was the defining of the powers of the Lieutenant-Governors. In company with Hon. H. L. Langevin (now Sir Hector) he went to England in 1879 on the mission which resulted in the dismissal of Lieut.-Gov. Letellier of Quebec for exceeding his power and governing without the advice of the Ministry of the day.

In private life Mr. Abbott is an amiable gentleman, and has surrounded himself with friends rather than followers. He married in 1849, Mary, daughter of the late Dean Bethune of Montreal. The new premier is a brother of Mr. H. Abbott, superintendent of the C.P.R., Vancouver.

Naval News.

The Naval Record of June 4th says: The event of the week has been the unexpected order for a party of 16 shipwrights (including one chargeman) and four caulkers to proceed to Esquimalt for the repair of the defects of the flagship Warspite, which only left Chatham some 15 months ago to relieve the Swiftsure as flagship of the Pacific station. The whole party has been made up of men belonging to this yard which has never previously had anything to do with the Warspite. Mr. Humphrys, examiner of dockyard work at the Admiralty, has been entrusted with the charge of the repairs to the Warspite, and it was probably through his influence that men are to be selected from this yard. Mr. Humphry's was foreman here until very recently, and came to Sheerness himself last week to assist in the selection of the men, most of whom are known to him personally. The trip to Esquimalt is popular, and it is most remarkable that every one of the 20 men asked to go on the trip consented, 24 hours being allowed for them to consider the proposal. The wages, 10s. per day, with 7s. 6d. subsistence money when victualling themselves, is considered to be good. Overtime is to be paid on 10s. per day, and 1s. per day extra will be allowed when the men are doing double-bottom work. Two months have been allowed for the work, and as nearly another six weeks will be occupied on the voyage out and home, the party will be absent from England about four months. Mr. Humphrys was one of the most popular foremen employed here in recent years, and that probably accounts for the readiness with which the men consented to go on the trip. Had sixty or seventy shipwrights been required there would not have been the slightest difficulty in obtaining them. It is not every foreman who commands such a wide measure of respect as Mr. Humphrys.

A notification has been received from the Director of Transports that the fifteen shipwrights, one chargeman of shipwrights, and four caulkers, selected to proceed to Esquimalt for the repair of the flagship Warspite, are to embark in one of the steamers of the Allan line, leaving Liverpool on June 10. Mr. Humphrys, examiner of dockyard work, who is to have charge of the repairs will embark at the same time. The party proceeds to Esquimalt, via Canada, and the dock authorities are to make provisions for defraying the costs of their subsistence on the railway journey from the port of disembarkation. The railway journey is estimated to take six days.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents. *

Purify The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. In its preparation, its medicinal merit, and the wonderful cures it accomplishes Hood's Sarsaparilla is Peculiar to Itself. Thousands testify to its success, and the best advertising Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsement of its army of friends. Every testimonial we publish, and every statement we make on behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla may be relied upon as strictly true in every respect.

Your Blood

If you need a good blood purifier or building up medicine, be sure to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Further information and statements of cures sent free to all who address us as below.

The Merchant Princes

Owe more of their success and vast accumulations to their Real Estate investments than they do to the purchase and sale of merchandise.

Invest judiciously in real estate and after a few years you can sit at your desk and, like a Merchant Prince write your cheque for thousands.

Property well selected is half sold. We submit the best selections that are on the market. Our clients have all made handsome profits without exception. Our subdivision on King's Road, next block to the Public School, is sure to grow in value. The terms are so easy that any workingman can handle it. Our list of other properties is among the best, any of which we will make the terms to suit purchasers.

Take the lesson of the Merchant Prince to yourself. Call on

COAL

The New Vancouver Coal Mining & Land Co., L'd.

(FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.),

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCERS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL (Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes).

THE SOUTH FIELD COAL (Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

(House and Steam Coal) are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, a high Illuminating Power, unequalled by any other Bituminous Gas Coal the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the Leading Steamship Lines o the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite fuel f domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal, makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the mo economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay, where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean steamers.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Loss of Vessels by Accidents in the Navy for the Past Forty Years.

It will be remembered that shortly after the Serpent disaster in November last, Mr. Herbert Gladstone, M.P., moved for a Parliamentary return of number of H.M.'s ships that had been lost during the century.

The return in question gives full details of the number of ships of the navy that have been lost, otherwise than in action, since the year 1840, and it is worthy of note that the number of wrecks due to errors of navigation has, as we have said, decreased to a satisfactory extent of late years. Thus from 1841-51 thirteen vessels were wrecked, from 1850-60 twelve, from 1860-70 thirteen, from 1870-80 only four, and 1880-90 six vessels. In other words ten vessels have been wrecked during the last twenty years against twenty-six vessels between 1850-70. These facts are worthy of attention in view of the outcry that was raised last November after the loss of the Serpent, and although it is difficult, if not impossible, to offer any excuse for that lamentable disaster, it would be highly unjust to assert that no improvement has taken place in navigation, whilst the converse could, with even less ground, be maintained. Whether naval captains in general have progressed with the times—especially in their knowledge of navigation—is certainly open to doubt; but it is certain that navigating officers have become more scientific and efficient.

Commencing with the wreck of the brig Spey in 1841, the return to Parliament is full of interest for naval men, and doubtless many morals will be drawn by philosophic minds as to the perils of the sea and the necessary precautions to be observed to avert accidents. It is remarkable that no less than six vessels have disappeared and left no trace during this period. The names of these ships are as follows: The Victor, sailing sloop, which left Mexico in August, 1842; the Nebudda, brig sloop, supposed to have been lost in 1856; the Sappho, lost in 1859; the Camilla, brig sloop, lost on the China station two years later; the Atalanta, supposed to have foundered in the Atlantic in 1880, and the gunboat Wasp, which left Singapore on 10th September, 1887.

It is strange indeed that no trace of these vessels has ever been found, and in such cases the uncertainty in regard to their fate lends an additional pang to the sorrows of bereaved relatives. A century ago the disappearance of a ship, or even of whole squadrons, was less remarkable, but in these days of steam and civilization it is unsatisfactory to be unable to determine the fate of even the smallest gunboat.

The loss of five vessels is accounted for by collision, the names of those ships being the Lizard, a steamer of 283 tons, sunk in 1843; the Amazon, steam sloop, sunk off Start Point in 1866, the Griffon, gunboat, which had to be stranded on the West Coast in the same year after a collision with the Pandora; the Vanguard sunk in 1875 in the Channel, and the coastguard cruiser Fanny, which collided off the Irish coast in 1879. It will be observed that, thanks to the construction of modern vessels, no British man-of-war has been sunk by collision since the Fanny, but notwithstanding this fact, Sir Thomas Symonds is undoubtedly right in advocating an increased number of water-tight compartments, as it is obvious that our old-fashioned battleships are insufficiently divided, and are fully as liable to be sunk as the Vanguard.

We have thus accounted for fifty-four of the seventy vessels mentioned in the return, and the remaining sixteen losses are for the most part special cases, from which it is difficult to draw a moral. Amongst those may be mentioned the six vessels abandoned in the Arctic regions in 1854, one of which, the Resolute, was subsequently recovered by an American whaler and returned to the British Government. In all the above cases the captains were acquitted of blame by the courts assembled to investigate the circumstances.

The Captain and Eurydice were capsized, as everyone will remember, whilst the Heron, brig-sloop, foundered between Ascension and Sierra Leone in 1879. The Jaspar and Bombay were burnt, the former in the Channel in 1854, and the latter off Monte Video ten years later, whilst the sloop Doterel was blown up in the Straits of Magellan in 1881, under circumstances which led to more stringent precautions being taken in the storage of coal in the bunkers. In this remarkable case the Court decided that the coal gas explosion led to a second and more serious explosion in the magazine, but the captain, who was taking his bath at the time, was acquitted of all blame.

Such briefly stated, are the interesting particulars to be found in this Parliamentary return, and although it is sad reading, this chapter of accidents is highly instructive.

PERSONAL.

Movements of Well Known People in Various Directions.

Capt. John, R. N., arrived last evening.

C. D. Rand and M. Thain, of Vancouver, are in town.

James Martin has gone to Saanich for a few day's outing.

Rev. Dr. Philo returned from a trip to the Sound last evening.

J. Maclure, of Matsqui, is in the city. He leaves for home to-night.

H. C. Beeton was among the incoming passengers last evening.

Capt. Irving and G. A. Carleton returned from Vancouver last evening.

H. L. Jackson, assistant manager of the P.C. & A.S.S. Company, is in the city.

John Welsh, formerly proprietor of the White Horse saloon, leaves for Liverpool via the N.P.R. on Monday night.

Ex-Senator J. C. Carson, wife and daughter, of Portland, arrived from the east a few days ago and leave for home by the Kingston to-night.

John Houston has sold his interest in the Miner newspaper, published at Nelson. The editorial "we" in future will be composed of Charles H. Ink and W. Gesner Allan.

Joshua Davies and R. G. Tatlow, accompanied by Messrs. Fell, Hutchison, McTavish, Dick, Hoff and Thynne, were among the capitalists who arrived at Nelson this week. John McLeod was over from Sproat and raised real estate another notch by talking of the future dividends of the C. & K. H. T. Ceperly, of Vancouver, visited the Hall mines this week, and says J. C. McLagan does not know as much as he thinks he does.—Miner.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

An East Indian Prince has had a bed made for him in Paris, the mattress of which is a huge musical box, while the canopy is supported by automatic figures, which wave fans and frighten away the mosquitoes. Its price is $25,000.

The declining powers of old age may be wonderfully recuperated and sustained by the daily use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.
